

The Good Eggs in the Community

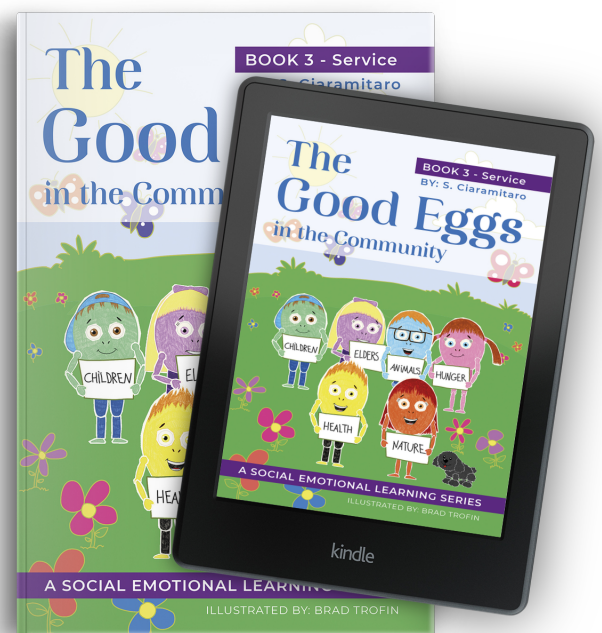

BOOK 3 - SERVICE

A SOCIAL EMOTIONAL
LEARNING SERIES

Seggourney, Reggie, Megg, Gregory, Peggy, and Benedict have just returned from their adventure around the world and are excited to teach about the significance of service to their growing community of Albumen.

They plan to provide service in various areas of their community and come to understand just how important helping others can be, as well as learning more about themselves in the process!

This third and final book in The Good Eggs series shows that they will learn, grow, and have fun as they realize even more about virtues, diversity, and service!

S. Ciaramitaro

S. Ciaramitaro holds a Master of Arts degree from the University of Detroit Mercy and has taught morality, ethics, and social justice courses at a private high school in Michigan. In addition to her teaching career, she has taught, developed, and implemented programs and curricula that are focused on helping children realize the importance of living altruistic lives centered on love. The Good Eggs series is her contribution to supporting children as they learn about virtues, diversity, and service – essential concepts to integrate into their lives as they grow into Good Eggs!

To Learn More or To Donate Visit: www.TheGoodEggs.org